Recently, the Director of Personnel briefed you on why the Agency's retirement systems need to be unique. As you will recall, we discussed various ways of protecting Agency retirement systems from radical changes proposed by the Administration and Congress. One suggestion was to write a letter to the President stating our case, even though you had previously done this on 24 March 1983. The reason for sending this second letter is to persuade the President to respond by a letter to OMB stating his agreement that we need special consideration. If he agrees to send the attached letter, then our problems with OMB and OPM should be minimized when we present our proposed legislation to Congress.

If you agree with this approach and are willing to sign the letter, the next problem is timing. Is now the best time to send it or just before or after the election? We know the wagons are circled and retirement systems will come under attack by both the Administration and Congress soon after the election.

I recommend you send the letter and its enclosure now.

Harry
